UniformDisplay.com has released a new version of their Uniform Display Case with Firefighter uniforms. It's like a Uniform in a Frame!

Uniform Display, Inc. has released a new version of it's Uniform Display Case specifically designed for Firefighters.

Their motto is "You earned it, you display it" - the Uniform Display Case is designed to provide a unique new platform for displaying medals, rank, patches, awards and decorations, using a unique new process that allows uniform decorations to be displayed similar to how they are worn on an actual dress uniform.

It's like a Uniform in a Frame!

The Fire Department Uniform Display Case allows Firefighters to proudly display their Rank, Patches, Medals, and even their Badge, in a frame and on a uniform simulating how they would be worn on an actual uniform.

There are several styles and color combinations available, including a U.S. Flag design that incorporates a waving flag pattern into the collar display.

It is a great way to top of a career and the perfect retirement or promotion gift.

According to Uniform Display President Gregory Fair, "A fully decorated Uniform Display Case is truly sight to behold. It quickly becomes the center of attention in any room, people just stop and stare at it in awe! Our nations dedicated Firefighters deserve to have a product like this available to them."

The Uniform Display Case simulates a real uniform by incorporating the sleeves, pockets, epaulettes and a collar of a real uniform into the design so that the uniform decorations can be placed in their proper positions, as they would appear on an actual uniform.

There are also additional display area's incorporated into the design known as the "Collar Display" and "Display Bar", these provide extra space for the display of additional non-uniform items such as pictures, coins and other mementos.

The frame has a very sleek design, which measures 27 x 23 and is just under 2 inches in depth so it will fit in with any decor. The frame is in a rich walnut finish with a thin gold inner border that enhances the appearance of the uniform inside. This is not your ordinary "shadow box".

They are currently available for the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Police, and now for Firefighters. Several new versions for the military were also recently released.

Uniform Display is the exclusive manufacturer of this entirely new product and it is currently available only at their website - <http://www.uniformdisplay.com/>

Uniform Display, Inc. is a privately held company that was founded in 2006 to develop the Uniform Display Case.
